It is the policy of the department to place these contracts early so that work may be gotten under way at once in an endeavor to relieve the present unemployment situation. These improvements effect railroads, cement mills, quarries, refineries, brick plants, steel mills and equipment manufacturers.

The Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society's Museum and Library is located at the Fifteenth avenue entrance to Ohio State University grounds. It is said to be the finest and largest building for such purpose in the country and was built at a cost of over $100,000. There are 30,000 historical books in the library, over 15,000 volumes of Ohio newspapers and a valuable collection of historical manuscripts. The museum has three divisions with a Curator in charge of each and it is a popular mecca for thousands of visitors every month.

Contractors Start Ditching Machine

The Pittsburgh-Des Moines Company, contractors for the local municipal waterworks system, started the ditching machine Monday but were forced to quit when rain set in and water filled the trench.

Pipe and fittings are being distributed about town and the base for the water tower is about completed which will enable the erectors to get the tower under way. The tower will be the largest in this section for a village, having a capacity of 150,000 gallons. Most of the towers only hold from 75 to 100,000 gallons. Cedarville has more public buildings than most towns of this size and with manufacturing institutions a much greater water supply was necessary to meet insurance requirements.

COOPER AGAIN CONVICTED FOR SHOOTING YOUTH

A verdict returned by a jury which Saturday deliberated for over seven hours in the same courtroom in which he was found guilty of first degree murder over a year ago again found Gilbert Cooper, 59, guilty, but only of manslaughter on the second trial.

Cooper's second trial for the murder of Caleb Hitchcock, 23, followed his serving of about a year of a life sentence imposed after his first conviction.

Cooper was accused of slaying the young Hitchcock during an argument, while both were trapping along the bank of Massie Creek on the J. C. Townsley farm on November 24, 1928.

Indicted by the grand jury for first degree murder, he was tried and convicted January 29, 1929. The jury's verdict carried a recommendation for mercy and Cooper was sentenced to the penitentiary for life.

After serving a year of the sentence he was granted a new trial by the Ohio Supreme Court and returned a few days ago for another trial in the same courtroom in which he had been convicted.

Attorney Frank L. Johnson represented Cooper and won what attorneys say is a remarkable legal victory. Cooper was sentenced Monday by Judge Gowdy to serve from fourteen to twenty years in the pen.

The Supreme Court had held there was no evidence to show but what Cooper shot in self defense and it is reported the recent verdict of manslaughter may be appealed.

Senator S. D. Fess Has Problem At Home

Sometimes Senators face unusual political situations in handling out appointments but none can be more embarrassing than a hot contest for postmaster in a Senator's home town.

Senator S. D. Fess must soon face the selection of a new postmaster in Yellow Springs, his home town. The office is second class and applicants will not be required to take the examination as do applicants for third class. At present there are four candidates; Ex-Mayor Thomas Donnelly, Frank Curry, Arch Dean and Mrs. Brewer. In political circles it is reported that a deal has been made between "Boss" Marshall and Donnelly, which will insure the committee recommendation. In addition the Ex-Mayor has long been closely connected with Senator Fess, and has done much scout work for him during his campaigns. While the fight is reported unusually warm in that section the contenders had better keep an eye on Frank Curry. Sometimes politicians have a way of making more than one deal without the knowledge of those interested.

Western Snow Storm Upsets March Plans

A Western snow storm of unusual strength hit this section Tuesday night and it proved to be one of the worst blizzards of the winter that was supposed to pass on March 21. Coal men found a quick demand for their product as the past few days having been more or less spring like brought a slump in coal requirements.

Greene County Led Stock Shippers For Pittsburgh Record

The Greene County Co-operative Agricultural Association was the largest factor in establishing a new record for the year at the Pittsburgh market last week. The local association shipped ten decks of stock and was the largest contributor during the week when receipts of co-operative live stock reached a new high total for the year with 41.7 per cent of all the live stock received at the market sold by the Producers Co-operative Commission Association, the farmer-owned co-operative organization operating on that market.

The Greene County organization led seven other counties in shipments from last week. Other counties having co-operative stock on the market were Coshocton, Fayette, Knox, Union, Wyandot, Ross, Pickaway, Van Wert, Harrison, Madison, Darke, Wood, Perry, Hardin, Adams and Clinton. The largest single consignor was James M. Cox, former governor of Ohio, who shipped four decks of lambs to the co-operative agency.

Of the 7,820 sheep coming to the market 49.0 per cent was consigned to the co-operative association; of the 8,783 hogs 38.1 per cent was co-operative and of the 1,469 calves 37.3 per cent was co-operative and of the 777 cattle 12.5 per cent was co-operative.

In only one other week since the organization was established at Pittsburgh in 1923 have receipts to the producers association reached this percentage.

DOG POPULATION ON DECLINE SAYS COUNTY AUDITOR CRESWELL

The dog population of Greene County in 1929 decreased by 1,184 over the preceding year, it is disclosed in the annual canine enumeration prepared by County Auditor P. H. Creswell.

The 1929 census, based on the number of licenses issued during the year, showed 2,882 male dogs, and 2,188 females, a total of 5,070, fell off 1,184 from 1928 while the licenses sold for males and 327 for females, a total of 4,347.

The male dog population in 1929 fell off 1,188 from 1928 while the number of female dog licenses sold slumped by forty-six. In 1929 twenty-three kennel licenses were disposed of as against twenty-five in 1928.

With the decreased dog population, livestock destroyed during 1929 by sheep-killing dogs also showed a corresponding reduction.

During 1929 355 claims for damages were allowed, including $21 for sheep killed and thirty-five injured, while in the previous year claims allowed amounted $37, including 455 for sheep killed and 102 for injured livestock.

WILL DRILL SECOND WELL FOR SUPPLY

A meeting of Council and the Board of Public Affairs was held Monday evening to discuss the report from Engineer Collins Wright on the test of the well on the Smith land for the municipal water system.

The final test last Friday showed about sixty gallons a minute after four hours pumping. The quality of the water has not been determined but samples have been sent to the State Board of Health and different chemists for analysis with installation of a softening plant in view.

It was the general opinion of council that we should take no chance on a shortage with one well in view of the fact that it did not produce the volume of water expected. It was determined to put down another well about 100 feet away but not to exceed 136 feet as the best flow of water seems to come around that depth.

With deep wells special pumps are required that are expensive in cost as well as operation. With two wells the town should have a supply for years to come and a guarantee with abundance of water to meet insurance requirements. The second well will not be started until a report has been received from the State Board of Health as to the quality of the water.

The woman admitted abandoning her newly born child to die in a lonely spot not far from her home several weeks ago.

Miss Chaney has been confined in the county jail since her arrest, being held under $5000 bond requirement.

Operetta Had Large Attendance
We wish, through the columns of this paper, to express our sincere appreciation to all those outside the east who aided us in our operetta.

To the mothers who so cheerfully made the costumes; to the business men of Cedarville and Clifton for their financial support through the programs; to Miss Trumbo, Mr. Edmonds and Mr. Jirec for their efficient help with the music; to Mr. Bull and Mr. Trout for their splendid cooperation, and to many others who in some way helped to promote our success. Cooperation of this kind encourages us to like future endeavors.

A financial report may be of interest also. While every effort was made to keep the expenses as low as possible, at the same time the cost of an operetta is always much higher than for plays or other forms of entertainment. Our total costume and scene bill was $69.51; our music bill was $38.73; opera house, programs and tickets $35.50, making our total disbursements $143.02. Our ticket and advertisement sale amounted to $235.55. This leaves a balance on hand of $87.53.

NEW TAXES PROPOSED FOR CLASSIFICATION

Thirty-eight proposals for changes in Ohio tax laws have been made to the taxation committee appointed by Governor Cooper to investigate and recommended needed legislation to put into effect the classification amendment adopted by the voters last November.

These suggested changes run the gamut from proposed poll taxes on all persons eligible to vote to proposed taxes on cosmetics, soft drinks and movies.

The suggestions made so far, according to a list compiled by Mrs. Charles L. Halter, secretary of the committee, are:

Property taxation—Remove the direct county levy; exemption of property of war veterans and dependents; provide a fine for false return of personal property; holder of a mortgage to pay a property tax on amount represented by mortgage; tax all church and school lands—buildings to be exempt; exempt $500 from all personal property tax returns—property exempted would not include motor vehicles; special assessments to be limited to 83.1-3 per cent of actual value after improvement is made.

Intangible taxation—Low-rate tax on deposits of banks and building and loan companies; mortgage, registry tax; all stocks and bonds except those of federal government to be taxed; a tax on all saving deposits; allow credit on mortgage tax for tax paid on short-time "construction mortgages" exempt all mortgages bearing an interest rate not higher than 5 per cent; a stamp tax on the issue, transfer and sale of shares of stocks, bonds, etc.

Severance taxes—Diversified rates on timber lands and mineral deposits; a tax of so much per unit production on coal, stone, gravel, sand, brick, tile and pottery clays, salt, cement, lime and oil.

Business taxes—Examination or reduction of incorporation fees; elimination or reduction of corporation franchise taxes; income tax on all business and corporations with the exception of personal service corporations; uniform rate on corporate personal property throughout the state.

Sales taxes—On cigars, cigarettes and other tobacco; on cosmetics; on playing cards; on oleomargarine coloring material; on soft drinks; general sales tax. Amusement tax—Theaters and shows.

Motor vehicles taxation—Truck tags for commercial vehicles to be $50 per ton truck; property tax of $1 per hundred dollars valuation on automobiles and trucks with no exemption; distribution of gas tax to be: State 75 per cent, municipalities 25 per cent; distribution of license tax: Counties 80 per cent, townships 20 per cent. License tax of $10 to $25 on pleasure cars—with exemption of property taxes.

Poll taxes—A small tax on all persons eligible to vote—would necessitate a constitutional amendment.

Income tax—A general state income tax. Administration—Treasurer to be elected for a term of four years; treasurer not obliged to personally secure court costs when bringing suit for collection of delinquent personal taxes; Oct. 1 to be latest date possible for arriving at and fixing tax rates; enact strong tax listing enforcement measures.

WHAT WILL BE TAXED AND WHAT NOT?

As one reads the proposals of what is to be taxed and what might escape tax in the proposals being considered under the proposed classification of property, we wonder if there is to be any class of property that will escape. One of the latest is to tax not only church property but college property as well.

Classification was offered as a panacea for all our tax ills in Ohio and the voters approved the amendment at the polls last November on the plea that tax would be reduced on real estate by bringing out intangibles that were not being taxed under the uniform rule.

The best we can hear now is that real estate will not benefit to the extent promised. Demand for more revenue and lower rates on money will not give the return necessary. In addition a state income tax is suggested or sales tax on all goods sold. Canada has had wonderful success on the sales tax and it has given the government money to meet obligations. With the sales tax everyone pays according to the purchase. With income tax the manufacturer and retailer have the opportunity of passing it on by increasing the cost of the articles sold. The same goods made in this country are sold for less in Canada and the sales tax is extra. This is proof that the consumer pays the manufacturer's income tax and probably some additional that only goes into profit. We have always opposed indirect taxes in any form and the worst of all is what is known as the "painless tax", where you pay it and do not know it. With people paying taxes direct they will have more interest in public affairs.

BANKS CONTINUE TO MERGE

For many years England was regarded as the banking center of the universe, having the largest bank in the world. Such is the case no longer. New York now takes the lead through the merging of certain financial institutions.

Not only are large banks merging but hundreds of smaller banks have joined forces and in a few instances banks in various towns have been taken over and operated on the chain bank system. In smaller communities where two banks have been struggling to exist it is well they should be merged as long as control remained in that particular community it served.

Treasury officials have long opposed branch, group and chain banking. While there is strong argument for rendering good service there is always the possibility and the chance of huge loans that might ruin not only the institution but an entire community through which the bank served. In addition group banking could be used for disastrous power if those in control were so inclined.

The doctrine is being preached by those who favor chain banking that the small-town bank is not only passing but no longer is necessary. The argument of present day transportation is used that people would rather bank in the larger cities.

The chain bank system is dangerous not only as an investment for the small stockholder but can be used to ruin good credit of one manufacturer or retailer favoring another. While we have drifted to the centralized idea not only of government but of business, there is no assurance that it will continue. It is our opinion that we shall see an uprising sooner or later over centralized power not only in business of all kinds but a return to a more sane economical form of government where a nation of educated people can have a direct voice in all affairs, locally. To hear some exponents of the centralized idea of business and government argue would make one believe the United States was on par with European countries where force is the greatest factor in maintaining law and order and observance of respect for government.

SAYS TOWN DRUNK HAS PASSED

A state official made a speech several days ago in support of prohibition. It was one of those flowery prohibition speeches that one usually expects from a salaried prohibition official. Some statements relative to prohibition were true and there has been progress made but not as much as the average paid prohibition speaker would have you believe exists.

One statement made is that we still have bootleggers and of course this will not be denied. This admission however was not elaborated upon. Another statement that the "town drunk has passed" bears some investigation. There was no distinction whether the word "town" was to include both the village and city, or village alone. Had the speaker made the statement "the town drunk was passing" we believe it would come nearer fitting the situation as we have it today. The public cannot be fooled on the success of prohibition and flowery speeches as to great accomplishments only fall on an indifferent citizenship that knows what is going on.

If we had more speeches admitting the weak spots and the failures the public conscience might be awakened to the need of more support for the cause.

The rural populace is convinced that more liquor comes from the cities than goes from the rural counties to the city. The public has no objection to constant prodding of local officials to keep on the job in rural counties but you never hear of many sheriffs from urban counties or chiefs of police being placed on the carpet. Constant nagging of rural officials and little action against city officials is developing a serious situation. The idea of one or two state men from the prohibition department working in county of half a million people and two or three in a rural county of twenty-five or thirty thousand people, naturally makes one believe the rural people are the worst offenders of the prohibition laws or that we have a well organized system of favoritism for the urban counties.

AUTO ACCIDENT
COST INJURIES
TO STUDENTS

Two students of Cedarville College suffered serious and painful injuries in accidents Wednesday morning while driving toward Cedarville.

Preston Garlough and Mary Alice Miller, who reside in the vicinity of Pitchin, are in the Springfield City Hospital, the latter in a very serious condition.

Both figured in a head-on collision while going over a hill on the road leading to the Selma pike. Walter Wildman, son of Allie Wildman, Selma, has passed a machine on his side of the hill and did not get back in his line of traffic in time to avoid the collision with the Garlough car. As Wildman is credited with driving at a fast rate of speed both cars were tele-scoped. He was injured but not serious, suffering numerous bad cuts.

Miss Miller at last reports had not regained consciousness and was supposed to have suffered a broken jaw and fractured skull beside bad cuts and some minor injuries.

Mr. Garlough was badly cut with glass and suffered injury to his limbs. Mr. Garlough was an outstanding ball pitcher for the local college team and both students were popular in the college.

Reports from the Springfield hospital Thursday morning were that Miss Miller had not regained consciousness and was sinking. Hope for her recovery had about been abandoned.

THE HIMALAYAN SCOOT

A FEW individuals of this strange species have been seen from time to time around the higher hill stations of northern India. The scoot's favorite food is the tiger, but they have difficulty in capturing it, and often go hungry. Their nests are magnificent affairs up high on the rocks, with walls trimmed in Early Renaissance frescoes and lined with elephant feathers.

This scoot, out on its evening flight in search of an elephant for more feathers, has powerful wings made of walnut shells. Its head is a double peanut, while the stump tail is a clove. The legs are toothpicks, and the feet are grains of rice. Every-tling is fastened together with chewing-gum.

Politicians Still Hunting Candidates

As far as can be ascertained the big city politicians are considering County Auditor P. H. Creswell the key man in contention for appointment as United States Marshal in this district.

Cincinnati has a candidate but he could not meet two of the requirements, on that the appointee must be an ex-service man and the other "dry". Dayton wants the appointment regardless of the fact that Judge Nevins comes from that city. Columbus has not pushed hard for an appointment hoping to break in when it is certain Creswell cannot land.

The liberal element is somewhat disturbed over the situation and the requirement that the new appointee must be "dry". All signs point to the fact that a dry appointee demand is ninety per cent of the opposition to Mr. Creswell. The Department of Justice will recognize none other and both Ohio Senators have agreed.

THE WHY OF SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

CROWS BIRDS OF ILL OMEN

THE raven and the crow are so nearly related that they are frequently called by the same name and for all superstitious purposes are one bird. In all parts of the world, from time immemorial, the crow—or raven—has been regarded with a superstitious dread. The Australian aborigine, the American Indian, the German peasant, the farmer of old England and of New England, hear in his raven's voice a warning of death or misfortune.

This universal superstition with regard to the crow can evidently have its origin in no mythological association. The various and widely separated races which entertain it prove that it springs entirely from the physical characteristics of the bird—its black gloomy color and its harsh and threatening voice—characteristics naturally calculated to inspire the primitive mind with a sense of foreboding. Added to this is the crow's character as a crop destroyer and his general actions as if he were an enemy of man.

The superstition is merely one arising from an association of ideas with facts apparently symbolic of those ideas, a process natural to the primitive mind and always. It is true that in Norse mythology the raven was the attendant bird of Odin and ravens flew screaming before him when the god went forth to war. But the assignment to this position was entirely on account of those characteristics which in lands that knew Odin made the crow a harbinger of evil to the superstitious.

Dear Editor:

I READ a book review by Sinclair Lewis and it didn't have a single word of criticism or bitterness in it. Must be a fake. That's like those gracefully phrased testimonials that "movie" stars sign with an illiterate hand too good to be true.

Well, we're starting out on a trip. I'll tell you about it from day to day. There goes Beauville's poor house, palatial, but set so far out in the country that six steady boarders refuse to stay. They actually got jobs and moved back to town. I'll bet the country felt bad about that.

REVIEW

GOLDEN TEXT—Unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given; and the government shall be upon his shoulder; and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The Mighty God, The Everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus the Savior.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus the Savior.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—He Went About Doing Good.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The King's Service.

Since the lessons of the quarter are bound together by the threefold unity of one book, one theme, and one person, the best method of review for young people and adults is to present the book of Matthew as a whole, and each lesson in its relation to Matthew's central purpose. The central theme is Jesus Christ, the King, the fulfiller of the Messianic hope.

Lesson for January 5.
God entered into covenant with David concerning the Kingdom (II Sam. 7:12-16). Christ's genealogy shows His legal right to the throne of David (1:1-17). The Messiah was not only said to be the seed of the woman (Gen. 3:15) and the son of a virgin (Isa. 7:14), but the might God (Isa. 9:6). Jesus Christ, the King, was begotten of the Holy Ghost and born of Mary, thus becoming Immanuel (Matt. 1:23, cf. Isa. 7:14).

Lesson for January 12.
The King entered upon His official work by being baptized. Christ's baptism was His act of consecration to the task of saving His people through the sacrifice of Himself upon the cross. Having received the official approval from the open heavens, the King went forth to the wilderness to meet and overcome the devil (Heb. 2:14). His victory demonstrated His ability to accomplish the work of redemption.

Lesson for January 19.
The voice of John the Baptist being uttered, the King becomes His own herald. His message was the same as John's, namely, "the kingdom of heaven at hand," which means the Messianic earth rule of Jesus Christ. He called helpers to His side and went through Galilee, preaching with triumphant success.

Lesson for January 26.
This lesson shows the characteristics and responsibilities of the subjects of the kingdom, the beatitudes showing the characteristics, and salt and light the responsibilities. The life and testimony of the disciples are set forth as the example of the world and preserve it from decay.

Lesson for February 2.
This lesson displays the principles which are to control the lives of the subjects of the kingdom. They should live a life of prayer, putting their trust in the Heavenly Father for temporal blessings. Spiritual affairs are to be first.

Lesson for February 9.
The subjects of the kingdom should be free from censorious judgments, be on the lookout for false teachers, avoid empty profession, and obey the words of Christ, the King.

Lesson for February 16.
In the performance of mighty works the King demonstrated His ability to administer the affairs of the kingdom. He showed His power over the chief foes of mankind—sickness, sin, satanic power, death, sorrow, and storms.

Lesson for February 23.
The kingdom was to be propagated by sending forth twelve men to preach the gospel of the kingdom. Their mission was authenticated by supernatural deeds.

Lesson for March 2.
In the propagation of the kingdom, violent opposition arose, resulting in the plan to kill the King. Opposition will be experienced by all who go forth in Christ's name.

Lesson for March 9.
The parables display the admixture of moral and spiritual conditions in the world between Christ's crucifixion and second coming. The parabolic method of teaching makes clear the truth to those who love it, but conceals it from those who do not.

Lesson for March 16.
The parables of the wheat and tares, mustard seed and leavened meal show the outward growth and inward decay of the work inaugurated by Christ in the interval between His crucifixion and second coming.

Lesson for March 23.
Though rejected by the nation, the King continued His ministry of healing and teaching.

Straightening the Kinks.
The kinks and tangles in our lives would straighten out wonderfully if we would let them come under the influence of the calm, clear life of Jesus—Fruitful of the South.

Christians.
The young Christian thinks himself little; the growing Christian thinks he is nothing; but the mature Christian knows that he is less than nothing.—John Newton.

Smother

because of improvements in its 60 horse-power engine

Much of Pontiac's increased smoothness is due to new type rubber mountings which now insulate its engine from the frame, and to a more rigid crankcase which assures more permanent bearing and crankshaft alignment. Then too, smoothness is intensified by the Harmonic Balancer which counteracts torsional crankshaft vibration. Finally, Pontiac's basic engine design enables it to develop 60 horsepower at moderate engine speed. No matter how fast or hard you drive, the engine runs smoothly and silently.... In this car you get reliability and long life seldom equaled except in cars of much higher price. Furthermore, you get remarkable economy. Your own good judgment should suggest that you investigate this finer Pontiac.

The pace-setters

KEEPING UP WITH THE JONESES is no mere vagary of the cartooner. It is an actual condition in every city, town, village and hamlet of this great country.

There is a Jones in every locality to set the pace. But the average Jones is not a rich man—far from it. He has a good job; he dresses well, he is a good talker and splendid company. Jones is always the gentleman, welcomed at business conventions, public dinners and social gatherings alike. Mrs. Jones is envied as a successful hostess. Every woman in her set, and out of it, seeks bids to her bridge parties and other social functions. Their home is cozy, tastefully furnished and provided with most of the modern conveniences.

"How do they do it?" ask the neighbors. "We have as much money as they. Socially we are their equals." But without seeming to try, without putting on any "dog," the Joneses set the pace just the same. They have learned from reading advertisements how to have many desirable things at little cost. They keep up to date on almost everything—just reading advertisements.

Keeping up with the Joneses is a comparatively easy matter—other things being equal. Read the advertisements regularly. Study them. Remember what you learn. Then, when you are in the market for anything, you will know, just as they do, what kind to buy. Soon you'll find yourself saving money, yet having more than you ever had. You'll find folks wondering how you do it. Oh, yes! It's fairly easy, if you make the most of your opportunities.

Advertisements are opportunities . . . study them to your own advantage.

A "Whiskers" Come-back?

Horace Greeley

Edwin M. Stanton

Napoleon III

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

WHISKERS about to stage a come-back on the face of American manhood? Wait, now, before you give a scornful reply to that question! For there are certain signs to indicate that the idea is not so fanciful as it may appear to be at the first superficial thought.

Do our newspapers accurately reflect contemporary American life? Consider, then, two newspaper items. One reads as follows:

Apocryphal rumor that whiskers are about to do a come-back as a companion piece to mustaches, also reported to be staging a come-back, this should bring about a revival of the pottery industry by stimulating trade in mustache cups.

—Auravasse (Mo.) Review.

The other goes into the subject more exhaustively and says:

Taffeta and ruffles have been worn before, and still there was no wide outbreak of whiskers. We have the long skirt for a while, too, and few whiskers returned. But it will be a surprising and an ambitious thing if we can have black muffs for evening and billowy skirts that sweep the ground and these very hair sleeves and face bonnets and now long-skirted bathing suits, even—never a blouse to go with them. The was mode in the window of shop and shoppe alike cry out for bearded company. A woman in such apparel not only needs an escort to the street, she needs a doughty blade with whiskers. Therefore, he will appear, and the motion picture director will no longer be alone in his Van Dyke.

There are portraits, political and musical. A Paris dispatch informs us that "the present French cabinet, which consists of 22 ministers and sub-ministers, shows not a single shaven member," and in addition, four chief representatives at the London parley brought mustaches, while the fifth has a beard. Locally, every one is aware of Chief Justice Hughes, Mr. J. Ham Lewis, Louis Gravois, Doctor Britton of the New York botanical garden and Ernest Boyd, critic, incarnadine, and finally several tenors have appeared in those mustaches which we associate with baritone.

Inevitably we must return to our mutton chops if the spring fashions continue toward 1830. The short boater, the shaven pate, the chinon and the gentile black glove took timid with no protective whiskers above them, yet here they are. And when whiskers come back, mark your grandfathe's words, so will chaperone.

—New York Herald Tribune.

There you have it—from both the rural and the metropolitan press, representing both the country and the city! However true it may be that the safety-razor-using, smooth-faced American appears to be in the majority today, is it beyond belief that he may choose to return to the be-whiskered glory of the past? History shows that the facial adornment of the ruler of a nation usually sets the hairline styles of the citizens of that nation. Now, of course, in a democracy such as ours the citizens are not likely to imitate the example of their President as are the subjects of a monarchy to follow the mode set by their king or emperor.

But the fact remains that during most of our history Americans have in general followed the style in regard to whiskers or no whiskers as set by our Presidents, although that may have been only a coincidence. Our early Presidents from Washington down to and including Buchanan were all smooth-faced and most Americans of their times were, too. Abraham Lincoln was the first President with a full beard and during his administration the golden age of whiskers began. Not the least of the elements which made the Civil war so picturesque were the magnificent mustaches, beards and sideburns which adorned the generals and statesmen, both Union and Confederate, during that period. A Civil war general, or even a colonel, a major or a captain without whiskers—well, the picture simply isn't complete, that's all!

Lincoln's successor, Andrew Johnson, was smooth-shaven, it is true, but his successors more than made up for his deficiency in carrying on the tradition. With the inauguration of Grant, whiskers came definitely into their own and for the next thirty years they were much in evidence in both the White House and the Capitol. Grant, Hayes, Garfield and Harrison all wore full beards. Arthur wore a mustache and sideburns and Cleveland wore a mustache. McKinley's smooth-shaven face marked the end of the bearded era, but Roosevelt and Taft symbolized a sort of a come-over with their mustaches.

The present smooth-shaven era began with Woodrow Wilson and has continued through the administrations of Harding and Coolidge down to the election of Hoover. Now that we have had nearly twenty years of smooth-shaven Presidents is the pendulum about to swing back again, and give us another bearded President to set the style for this fellow-American? And if whiskers are to stage a come-back, what are to be the most popular styles?

Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm

Look at the portraits of the be-whiskered notables shown above and pick out your own style. The full, flowing "chest-protector" beard worn by Edwin M. Stanton, secretary of war in Lincoln's cabinet, is not only typical of the style most popular in the American golden age of whiskers but it is one of the oldest styles. As will be seen by data presented later in this article, it goes back to very ancient times. It, however, it would overstate the patience of the average American to wait for the growth of such a luxuriant crop, the hairy collar style, with the ostrich plume effect, as exemplified by Horace Greeley, the great editor, might be less trouble to cultivate.

Many Americans may not remember the services of the gallant Gen. Ambrose Everett Burnside during the Civil war, but they are not likely to forget what he contributed to American facial adornment. They are sometimes referred to as "mutton chop whiskers," thereby depriving the general of credit which properly belongs to him. For as everybody knows, the right name for them is obtained by reversing the name of the man who made them popular and calling them "sideburns." Similarly, his imperial—and ill-fated—majesty, Napoleon III, made popular in France the combination of sharp-pointed mustache and lower-lip whiskers, or "goatee," which goes by the name of "imperial." It is doubtful if the average American would care for this "foreign invention"—preferring one of the "made-in-America" brands—any more than he would care for the sharply up-turned mustache of the ex-kanzler of Germany. One fault of the latter type—at least, there is a tradition to this effect—is that it requires too much attention, such as putting it in a cloth framework at night so that it will not sag, droop or otherwise lose its perky uprightness.

The United States, however, is not the only country in which there are signs of a whiskers come-back. From France comes word that a well-known arbiter of styles on the Parisian boulevards has started a campaign for the return of the beard which he regards as the "forward sign of a mature mind." This is another historical cycle completed, for in early times the beard was considered by all nations as a sign of strength and manhood, carefully cherished and almost regarded as sacred. More than that, its removal was considered a particularly degrading form of punishment. In the second book of Samuel in the Old Testament is related the story of the servants which King David sent to Hanun, ruler of the Ammonites, to comfort him for the death of his father. Their reception is described as follows:

And the princes of the children of Ammon said unto Hanun their lord, Thinkest thou that David doth honour thy father, that he hath sent comforters unto thee? hath not David rather sent his servants unto thee, to search the city, and to spy it out and to overthrow it?

Wherefore Hanun took David's servants and shaved off the one-half of their beards, and cut off their garments in the middle, even to their buttocks, and sent them away.

When they told it unto David, he sent to meet them, because the men were greatly ashamed: and the king said, Tarry at Jericho until your beards be grown, and then return.

Cutting Stalks Is Tough On Borers

Getting Rid of Last Year's Rubbish Destroys Many Larvae in Hiding

Cutting and removing last year's corn stalks is at the same time cutting the chances of the European corn borer to increase, wax and grow fat on the Ohio corn crop. For the borer spends one stage of his life hiding in the corn stalks and debris of last year's crop.

Spring is the time for cutting, raking and burning the accumulated stalks. When the ground is frozen hard, the stalks may be broken off by dragging a railroad rail or heavy pole across the field. Such a system won't work after the ground thaws.

In cooperation with the Ohio State University engineers, the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture has developed and tested a new and improved sled-type stalk shaver which will cut the stalks off close to the ground and leave them in condition to be raked and burned. The machine works best when the ground is not frozen. It consists of a light sled equipped with blades and a plow coulter for guiding it. It can be built in the farm workshop on plans which will be supplied free by the United States Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C.

HISTORIC "EDEN MUSEE" COPIED FOR SCENE IN "ANNA CHRISTIE"

New York's historic "Eden Musee" founded many years ago on old Fourteenth Street and later moved to Coney Island, where it was razed by fire, may be seen in reconstructed form in "Anna Christie," Greta Garbo's first talking picture which will come Saturday, March 29th, to the Regent Theatre, Springfield for one week.

It was in this famous wax works that the "Chamber of Horrors" first came into being with its shocking display of torture and murder victims, depicted with life-like realism. When it was moved to Coney Island it preserved many of its images, such as Dorothy Arnold, Nan Patterson, Elsie Siegel and other figures in sensational mysteries.

Clarence Brown directed Garbo's talking picture debut, using the Eden Musee setting as a background for Coney Island scenes in which all the glamor of Surf Avenue was preserved in sound as well as scenic authenticity.

Shorts and Middlings

Viburnums, if they have plenty of food, will grow in the shady spots the yard and will supply either excellent foliage, decorative fruits, or conspicuous bloom, depending upon the variety selected.

Early planting, well-prepared soil, good paints and care in setting, are important factors in obtaining a good strawberry bed. The plants which start early make more runners than those which set late.

Says Sam: Among the other pests is the man who once, and once only, had a brilliant idea, and is afraid to let loose of it for fear he'll never have another.

A crop of sweet clover, plowed under, will ordinarily add about 150 pounds of nitrogen to the soil of an acre of ground, at a cost of about five cents a pound.

The hardest possible blow at the corn borer is to thoroughly clean up the fields before planting.

Federal Reserve Advises Russia: Answers the Pope in A. D. 1901930 Gangsters, Cruel, Silent

Los Angeles.—The federal reserve chief tells business to go ahead boldly, showing more initiative, less hesitancy. Excellent advice. Business will advise the federal reserve, when and if prosperity booms again, to be less enthusiastic about promoting usury, and run the federal reserve more like a banking institution, less like a pawnshop.

Reserve board financiers that forced 15 to 20 per cent interest rates, handing hundreds of millions to money lenders and adding thousands of millions in value, temporarily, to inflated bank stocks, need advice as much as any business man needs it.

Russia, inflamed by the pope's protest against atheistic propaganda, retaliates in vindictive fashion. In the Minsk district a fund is started to build an airplane, presumably for war to be called "Our Answer to Pope Plus." And from the Verones district workers send to the industrial fund at Moscow ten crucifixes of church bells, sacred images, crucifixes, etc., to be melted down. That shipment is called "an answer to the pope."

One item of news will be remembered a million, and ten million, years hence.

Nothing else in our age will be of the slightest consequence, even 100,000 years from now.

The news that will outlast recollection of this age of industrial and financial barbarism is the discovery of another planet in our solar family, sailing around outside the orbit of Neptune.

Each dweller in the year one million nineteen hundred and thirty, as they converse in the ozone area, thirty miles above the earth, will wonder how such primitive beings as ourselves could have discovered that planet.

Similarly, we wonder how primitive cave dwellers could have made those interesting pictures of rhinoceroses and horses.

Gangsters are not kind to each other.

John ("Billiken") Rito, described by police as "a bootleg racketeer," member of the "Bugs" Moran gang, lies in the morgue. Wires with which his arms, hands and ankles were bound when he was taken out of the Chicago river have been removed. The police wonder who burned the tips of his fingers in the process of torturing him before he was murdered, and why they did it. They will never know.

Golf links, daily dozens, radio setting-up exercises and other devices are designed for the man who leads a sedentary life physically. Edison wants to know: "What about the man mentally sedentary and inactive? Who will plan something for him?" Many millions need to be called early on the radio with this question: "How long is it since you have exercised your mind? How much reading worth while do you do, and how much do you think as you read?" It is mental, not physical, inactivity that hurts a nation.

The Union Pacific railroad has bought $500,000 worth of fine new motor omnibuses. Railroad men have passed the phase of contempt for automobiles. The Union Pacific will use 22 new omnibuses between Chicago and Los Angeles, 11 between Portland, Spokane, Boise and Salt Lake City.

Mr. Edison is hopeful about a rubber supply from goldenrod. Chemists who think it ought to be done by some synthetic process and victims of hay fever are less optimistic.

The great inventor, eighty-three years old, says he wants only five years more to finish this job, and doesn't ask to live one hundred years.

The death of Primo de Rivera, former Spanish dictator, killed by heart disease, reminds you that being dictator is a wearing job. It takes such a man as Mussolini to stand it for a long time.

The Italian ruler establishes a "minor" class of citizen, not obliged to enter the Italian army. This is planned to keep Italians in foreign countries interested in Italy. Wise Mussolini.

President Hoover, like a good family doctor for the nation, says nothing or says things that are encouraging. There is a great deal of value in that.

Buy what you want, beginning with a good automobile; buy it now and then enjoy it now. Life does not last forever. Keep it busy, and full. (Copyright, 1929, by Arthur Brisbane)

Forest Seedlings Growing Scarce

Supplies At State Nurseries Being Exhausted By Heavy Demands From Farmers

Demand for young forest trees from the state nurseries, to be transplanted by farmers reforesting their woodlots, has been so heavy this year that several of the more desirable types have already been exhausted, and the supplies of others are limited, says F. W. Dean, extension forester. "The is still time to order some types of trees, but delay may mean waiting for them another year," Dean warns.

"Trees still available for distribution for farm reforestation include Scotch pines, three-year seedlings and three-year transplants; Austrian pines, two-year seedlings and three-year transplants; black walnuts, one-year seedlings; black locust, one-year seedlings; red oak, white oak, and white elm."

Prices on the trees supplied from the state forest nurseries range from $2 to $5 a thousand. They must be ordered on application blanks which can be obtained from the State Department of Forestry at Wooster, Ohio.

Early Planting Is Factor In Yields

Crowding Date Ahead of May 20 Has Meant Larger Crops During Past Decade

Crowding the corn-planting date ahead of May 20 means, within reason, increasing the corn yield every day. So indicate the records of 600 Ohio corn growers who, during the past 10 years, have been entered in the Ohio 100-Bushel corn project sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service of the Ohio State University.

Checking the records kept by these growers, extension specialists in farm crops have divided them into groups based upon the yield which they obtained. The group whose crop averaged 60 bushels to the acre, planted on May 20 as an average date for the 10 years; the group with an average yield of 80 bushels to the acre, planted on an average date three days earlier. The group who obtained 100 bushels to the acre planted on an average date of May 15, and the group harvesting an average yield of 120 bushels to the acre planted their corn on an average date of May 14, or six days earlier than the 60 bushels group, who harvested just half as much corn to the acre.

Allowance must be made for different seasons and weather conditions, but the summary of the long period and the large number of growers involved, indicates clearly the value of early planting as one of the factors producing high corn yield.

"KONJOLA PROVED GODSEND," SAID THIS TOLEDO MAN

Suffered Two Years From Kidney Ailment; Grateful For Relief Brought By New Medicine

MR. JEPHHA KING

"About two years ago I became afflicted with kidney trouble," said Mr. Jephtha King, Route No. 1, Holland, near Toledo. "I had terribly severe pains across the small of my back. This pain became so bad that I often found it necessary to remain in bed for days at a time and work was out of the question. I did not know what it meant to enjoy a night of refreshing sleep. I lost weight and became terribly run down and discouraged."

"From the very start Konjola went to the source of my troubles. Four bottles completely changed my whole outlook on life. I never have an ache nor a pain and I sleep soundly throughout the night. I do not suffer from constipation, the back pains are gone, my kidneys function properly and I am working every day. My entire system has been built up by this great medicine until I have gained in weight and strength. I am in excellent health for the first time in years."

Konjola is sold in Cedarville at Provant & Brown drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.
